

COVID-19 Communication

As the spread of the Coronavirus (COVID-19) continues in our global community, we at BRP Family Law want to update you on the steps we have taken to ensure business continuity for our existing and prospective clients.

We have implemented protocols that have enabled all of our attorneys and staff to work and attend court remotely, and we are now making efforts to safely return to the office and court as required. Our technology ensures that our services will continue to be uninterrupted, and your legal matters will not be impacted. We have the ability to conduct meetings in-person, and by Zoom, phone, Skype, GoToMeeting, FaceTime, or whatever application is best for our clients. All attorneys have complete access to files at all times.

We are continuing to closely monitor the ever-evolving situation and follow the directives of our state/D.C. and local governments, as well as those of our Courts. Our highest priority at BRP Family Law is the well-being of our team, clients, and community. We continue to implement measures to reduce the risk of workplace transmission of the virus to ensure the health and safety of our entire community while remaining focused on the needs of our current and future clients.

For further information please contact:

Brian K. Pearlstein, Esq., Managing Partner @
bkp@brpfamilylaw.com

Edouard J.P. Bouquet, Esq., Senior Partner @
ejb@brpfamilylaw.com